

Modern Foreign Languages

Modern Foreign Languages are essential to a broad and balanced curriculum. We believe that Language study develops students' literacy, memory and cognition skills, as well as providing cultural capital through an awareness and understanding of other traditions and beliefs. In response to a new exam focused on greater levels of speaking spontaneity, we seek to develop students' oracy and self-confidence from the outset.

The department aims are:

To maintain and/or stimulate lasting curiosity, interest and enjoyment in the chosen Modern Foreign Language.

To develop the ability to use the chosen Modern Foreign Language effectively for purposes of practical communication.

To enable each student to achieve his/her potential across a range of skills.

To prepare students for life in a multi-cultural and rapidly changing world.

To encourage the development of self-study skills via home learning and online resources.

The department is involved in a number of events, activities and trips to support the character development of our students and to further promote enthusiasm for Languages across the curriculum.
